What are eprints?

- Electronic copies of academic research papers
  - Preprints - not refereed
  - Post prints – refereed
  - Journal articles
  - Conference papers
  - Book chapters
  - Other forms of research output

Advantages of eprint archives

- Papers more visible
  - Rapid dissemination
  - Value added services
  - Ability to deal with large datasets
  - Cross searching

Subject based eprint archives

Abstract

Language is both a biological and a cultural phenomenon. Our aim here is to discuss, in an evolutionary perspective, the articulation of these two aspects of language. For this, we draw on the general conceptual framework developed by Ruth Millikan (1984)

RePEc

How you can use RePEc | Placing your materials in RePEc | Major participants and activity

RePEc (Research Papers in Economics) is a collaborative effort of over 100 volunteers in 30 countries to enhance the dissemination of research in economics. The heart of the project is a decentralized database of working papers, journal articles and software components. Any institution is welcome to join in contributing its research materials. All RePEc material is freely available.

Please note that RePEc does not contain full-text journal articles; RePEc services provide links to many full text articles, but you may need a personal or institutional subscription to follow those links. If a working paper or journal article is not indicated as "downloadable", please contact the author or publisher for assistance.

The RePEc database holds over 170,000 items of interest, over 66,000 of which are available online:

102,000	working papers
56,000	journal articles
790	software components
4,000	author contact listings
6,300	institutional contact listings

Bookmark this page to easily locate our services to the economics profession.

How you can use RePEc:

Journals versus eprints

- High impact journals versus eprint archives
  - Self archiving is not self publishing
  - Peer review
  - Quality control

Institutional repositories

- Growing interest in institutional eprint repositories
- Interoperability

Institutional Repositories

- Australian National University
  - University of Glasgow
  - University of Nottingham
  - University of Melbourne

Benefits of Institutional Archives

- Existing infrastructure
  - Promotion of institutional output
  - Increased scholarly impact
  - Inclusion in cross archival searches (OAI compliance)
