CAVAL Professional Development Interest Group Forum

Libraries Under Review – twelve months on.
4 academic and research libraries share their reflections,
challenges and learning

Wednesday 22nd June 10.00am – 1.00pm
Victoria University
City Flinders Campus
(Seminar room 11.07, Level 11)

In July 2015, we heard from three academic libraries about the significant changes they had experienced in response to external and internal changes to University strategy and student services - re-positioning library structures, service models and roles. This forum will allow participants to hear how these changes have progressed over the last 12 months.

Presenters will speak about how roles have shifted and evolved the development of strategies to support employees in the workplace during transition, and the ongoing challenges. There will be time for questions and discussion, and morning tea will be provided.

Library staff from all CAVAL member libraries are welcome, particularly those with an interest in professional development and the changing LIS landscape.

Speakers

Garry Potter - Garry Potter is the Manager, Libraries Footscray at Victoria University and has more than 30 years' experience in the library and information science profession, with the last 20 years in Higher Education. Garry's current portfolio also includes managing Lending Services for the library and the professional development of campus library staff. Garry has undertaken and continues to do research in the areas of staff development and workforce planning; and has presented papers at IFLA, the CAVAL People in the Information Profession conference, and the Pacific Northwest Libraries Association in the USA. Garry has always had a keen interest in the continuing professional development of library staff, particularly as roles change, and continues to work in this area.

Jenny Ellis - Jenny leads the Scholarly Information program of Melbourne University Library. This program is responsible for the delivery of a diverse range of client services that support teaching, learning & research at the University. Jenny leads the library liaison relationships that support the learning & teaching and research activities of faculties and schools. She also manages the physical library spaces and frontline services and has responsibility for the University Copyright Office.

Wendy Hoyle - Wendy was transferred into the new position of Associate Director, Library Services as part of the restructuring of the University of Tasmania's Division of Students and Education. Prior to that, she temporarily held the position of Associate Director, Library Client and Learning Services as per the previous restructure. For six years she held the position of Launceston Campus Librarian, with responsibility for the management of the Launceston, Cradle Coast and Sydney libraries, as well as client services, staff development and marketing across the whole Library service. Prior to that, Wendy worked for 20 years in Brisbane in a variety of roles at the University of Queensland, Griffith University and the State Library.

Fiona Salisbury - Fiona Salisbury is the Deputy Director, Learning and Teaching in the University Library at La Trobe University. Fiona has worked at La Trobe since 2006 and her responsibilities at different times have included learning and teaching programs and services, research support services, web development, communications, and collaborative library initiatives related to curriculum design. Before working at La Trobe University Fiona held a number of positions at the University of Melbourne Library.
